The train is expected to arrive at St. Louis on Saturday morning. The procession in this city will be an imposing one, and it is already arranged that more than twelve thousand men will be in line, including many military companies from this and adjoin-ing States, the regular army, West Point Cadets, marines and sailors, Grand Army and Loyal Legion.

Commander-in-chief Veazey, of the G. A. R., has ordered the posts on the route of the funeral train to form at stations and salute as the train passes. The Legislatures of New York, Main and New Jersey today took suit-

Legal Technicality That May Ald the Unemployed Rioters-W. S. Maxwell for Horticultural Commissioner.

By Telegraph to The Times. CHICAGO, Feb. 16.—[By the Associated Press.] President Gage of the World's Fair directory, sent a letter to Mayor Cregier today calling his attention to cases of intimidation of working men by the unemployed at Jackson Park, the danger of serious labor riots, and the necessity of police protection. The Mayor directed the corporation counsel to draw up an opinion, and the conclusion was reached that the city could not undertake to keep a force of police on the grounds in anticipation of trouble, but in case of riot police would be sent to suppress it. The request for such force, however, must come from the Park Commissioners, not from the contractors or World's Fair officials, Saturday, and those at St. Louis on the latter day.

What the Appropriation Bills Will Call For.

Message From the Governor on the Death of Gen. Sherman.

Hundreds of Measures Doomed to a Legislative Death.

Only Seventeen More Salaried Days the Present Session-Dan Burns to Take the Field

By Telegraph to The Times. SACRAMENTO, Feb. 16.—[By the Associated Press.] The Legislature resumed business this afternoon, but as usual on Mondays very little of gen-eral interest took plack. The most important event from the standpoint of the tax-payers, was the Ways and Means Committee's report to the As-Means Committee's report to the Assembly of general appropriation bills.

Mr. Dibble of San Francisco, in presenting the report, called attention to the superior economical showing of the Legislature this year as compared with its predecessor of two years ago. The aggregate of general appropriations this year is $3.995,657, a decrease of $348,753. Mr. Dibble said his committee had allowed $213,000 for agricultural fairs, an increase of $348,753. Mr. Dibble said his committee had allowed $213,000 for agricultural fairs, an increase of $40,000 over the appropriations of 1889. The sum of $10,120,000 can be raised by a tax of 50 cents on $100 of state assessed valuation. In addition to the Items provided for in the general appropriation bills, the necessary expenditures for schools, interest on sinking funds, State University, etc., will run up the appropriations to $9,307,395. This leaves a margin of $812,605 for miscellaneous expenses. Deducting $300,000 for the World's Fair there is left $512,605. The item of $600,000 for the publication of State text books is dropped from the general appropriation bill and will have to be provided for in a special bill which will bring up an interesting discussion on the question of whether the State had better publish its own books or purchase them from private firms.

RESPECT FOR GEN. SHERMAN. The death of Gen. Sherman was made the subject of a message to the made the subject of a message to the Senate and Assembly today by Gov. Markham, who, after alluding to the patriotism and military achievements of the dead hero, suggested that the Legislature should adjourn or the day of the obsequies, that all public busi-ness should be suspended and flags kept at half mast on all public build-mes for thirty days.

kept at half mast on all public buildings for thirty days.

In the Senate, Mr. Heacock of Santa Barbara moved that the suggestions be adopted. Mr. Ostrom, Democratic-Granger-Economist from Yuba, while mindful of the virtues of Sherman, suggested that an adjournment on the day of the funeral would be the proper course. It was finally, without discussion, decided to adjourn out of respect to the dead general's memory on the to the dead general's memory on the day of the obsequies, whenever that day of the obsequies, whenever than may be.

The Assembly appointed a special committee of Grand Army men and prominent Democratic members to draft suitable resolutions. The committee consists of Dibble, Shanahan, Matthews, Rice, Matlock, Clark, Young, Cargell, Johnson, Dow, Marion, Coombs. THE FIRE BILL. The Fire Bill, which caused so much excitement in the Assembly last week, will be reached before Wednesday. It is said that Dan Burns will attempt to retrieve his laurels, but there is as yet no evidence of such a purpose. MANY MEASURES DOOMED. Night sessions in both Houses begin tomorrow. Only seventeen salaried days of the session remain, and many hundred bills that crowd the files are doomed beyond redemption.

THE RAIN.

The Downpour General in Southern California. The rain which commenced in earnest beween 6 and 7 o'clock Sunday evening, con-inued without intermission until noon yes-erday, after which but little fell, and, during the afternoon, it partially cleared up.

The Signal Observer in this city reported that the rain was over in the northern part of the State, which may be taken as an in-dication that but little, if any more, is to come in this section for the present. The rainfall for the twenty-four hours ending at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, was 2:75 inches, making the total for the was 2:75 inches, making the total for the season 6:35 inches.

While the quantity of water that came down was considerable, the downpour was so gentle and evenly-distributed that no damage to speak of was done. A few shade trees in the city limits fell bepeath the weight of water, and the cable company had some little extra work in protecting their conduits and power-houses, but this was a mere trifle.

Reports from surrounding points indicate that the rain was general. The farmers are jubliant, and a better feeling everywhere prevails.

BURNED LIKE A CHRISTMAS TREE. One bank of an open newly-excavated ewer on Alameda street caved in about aidnight between Sunday and Monday and midnight between Sunday and Monday and carried with it a large pepper tree, which fell across the electric light wires and block-aded the Southern Pacific track. The electricity set fire to the tree, which, despite its greenness, burned briskly, and for a time looked like a brilliantly-liluminated Christmas tree. The railroad employes who were summoned to remove the obstruction from the road were timid about handling the wet tree, which was so heavily charged with electricity, but it was finally removed.

HORSES DROWNED.

tree, which was so heavily charged with electricity, but it was finally removed.

HORSES DROWNED.

The most serious accident reported was the drowning of a team of horses in the sewer trench at the corner of Jefferson street and Grand avenue. The sewer has only been recently laid and the earth is very sett. In addition to this a vast amount of water collected at this point, converting the intersection into a respectable-sized lake. The driver of the team, knowing nothing about the sewer trench, drove his horses into the water, when they mired up and were drowned before they could be extricated.

Another horse was driven into an open forced off by the pressure of the water in the sewer, but the animal was got out without being injured.

Two of the three deaf-mutes, who are now confined in the City Jail charged with having robbed numerous houses in Southern California, have made full confession to Police Officer Rich, who has worked the case up. They made a map of the towns they have operated in, showing the exact location of the houses burgiarized. These towns include Riverside and Cotton. They operated only between the hours of 2 and 4 p. m. and concealed their goods in the night. At Riverside they made a big haul, and concealed the goods under the floor from the outside, as they thought, but when they went for the stolen property the max day they were suprised to find that there was no board floor to the shop, and the "smitty" had walked off with the booty. Confessions were written out by Loveli and Creizer is the leader, and engineered the robberies. He is a very tough citizen, and has, it is colaimed, served a term in prison in functions. The confession also implicates one or two others who have not yet been arrested.

Still Unexplained.
The mystery of the disappearance of Mrs.
Susan Hawkins still remains unexplained.

Susan Hawkins still remains unexplained. It is now eleven days since she left her home and not one word has been heard from her, nor has the slightest trace as to her whereabouts been discovered.

At one time her-friends were hopeful that she might possibly, while laboring under temporary aberration of the mind, have gone into voluntary hidring. This theory has been altogether given up. It is now believed that she has drowned herself. A close watch is being kept at Redondo Beach for the body.

THE COURTS.

Damron's Case to Come Up . Again To-day.

HIS PLEA FOR CONTINUANCE

Guilty"-The Woman Released on Bond-Supreme Court Decisions.

The case of the people against James M. Damron, charged with forgery, was called in Department One yesterday morning. The well-known pepman was on hand, having been escorted down from the jail in the custody of a deputy sheriff.

The well-known pepman was on hand, having been escorted down from the jail in the custody of a deputy sheriff.

As was expected, the case was no sconer called than a continuance was asked for by the defendant. He had no counsel present in the controom, all his attorneys having withdrawn from his defense. He therefore spoke in his own behalf.

He said that it was not until the 19th inst. he was notified that Mr. White would not appear for him. This left him only three calendar days in which to make arrangements for other counsel to appear for him. Owing to circumstances beyond his control, Damron stated that he was detained at the County Jail and was unable to get out on the street and make such arrangements for counsel as he deemed best.

For this reason Damron wanted the case to go over until the latter part of the week.

To this the District Attorney objected, He said that if the case was continued he could not try it until the latter part of March, and insisted that unless the trial was proceeded with at once that it be set for late in March.

This did not please Damron, who wanted no such long delay. As a compromise the case went over until today. This morning the trial will, in all probability, commence.

The count upon which Damron is to be next tried is the charge of forging the uname of Hervey Lindley to a note for $150, which he disposed of to C. Worth. The case is really the weakest of any of the five count pending against the ex-Assemblyman. This is owing to the fact that Hervey Lindley admits that he told Damron that he would assist him to raise money, but he denies that he authorized him to sign his name to any note.

NANNIE CALVERT FREE.

that he authorized him to sign his name to any note.

NANNIE CALVERT FREE.

Yesterday morning Nannie Calvert came into Department One to plead to the charge of adultery lodged against her by her husband. Nannie entered a plea of not guility. She then furnished bond in the sum of $1000, A. Clements and J. M. Evans being her bondsmen. Mrs. Calvert states that the story printed in The Times a few days ago to the effect that she was a gum chewer is a malicious, cold-blooded scandal without a word of truth in it. Nannie may not be what might be termed a gum-chewer, but she certainly does chew gum while she is in the court-room.

William Crumb, Nannie's paramour, entered a plea of not guitty also. William, however, was not so fortunate in the matter of giving bail. He could not give the surety required of him, $3000, and he was forced, therefore, to go back to jail.

"The home of the tourists for the past eight days has been a vestibuled string of paistial Pullmans. The composite car, in which the gentlemen reveled, consists of a luxuriously-furnished smoking and refeating room, a bathroom, barbershop and refreshment compartment. Following this were the dining-cars, "Windsor" and "Casa Monica." Next came the four sleeping cars, while the rear was brought up by the wonderfully-popular observation and amusement car. It was here we had our plane, our library, our writing desks and easy chairs, and here, too, sat the stenographer and typewriter, ever ready and willing to let the dear oues at home know Just what was transpiring.

"The train force was composed of two electricians, a Pullman conductor, two dining-car conductors, a baggageman, five cooks, eight waiters, five porters, a ladies' maid and a barber. The entire train was heated by steam and lighted by electricity generated by the dynamo, though the storage batteries were drawn upon at times when the engine was detached. Movable electric lights were also available, and when one wanted to read in his berth at night it was but necessary to press the button and have the porter attach the builb to the wires at the side of the car.

"The first stop on route was made at New Orleans, where Mardi Gras festivities were indulged in. The floats representing the Industries, pleasures and foilies of life, which consiluted the Rex parade in the morning, and the Comus and Proteus pageants of the evening were most elaborately and gorgeously gotten up, and the brilliant scene on Canal street is one never to be forgotten. Interesting, historic old San Antonio was the next point visited, and strange indeed were the impressions created by the alamo, the missions and the cathedral. From here we were whirled along to El Paso; then a hurried drive into Mexico, a raid on the steres for ourios, and we were again aboard our special, expecting a long, tedous ride over the desert. Instead, however, our last day out was the gala day of the week, owing to the royal reception given us by the good clitizens of Los Angeles, whose Chamber of Commerce Committee came 400 miles over the plains to welcome us to their glorious State. And what a welcome! Not only did these whole-souled, large-hearted friends extend us a kindly greeting, but they came with their private car laden with the choleest productions of the State. There were fruits and flowers everywhere. Exquisitely delicate buds for the gentlemen and magnificent corrasge bouquets for the ladies. Our dining cars were transformed into bowers of roses, entered through the floral arch, 'Welcome to Los Angeles.' Not only did these good Samaritans bring feasts for our eyes, but refreshments for the inner man as well. Luscious strawberries and California cream, the famous Riverside oranges, red ripe tomatoes and candied figs. floated about in the greatest profusion. Supposing that all the hospitality that could possibly be extended had been lavished upon us, we settled down to discuss the delights of the ovation, when temptation again crossed our patt and all prenounced the old juice of the grape 'par excellence.'

THE RECEPTION.

The citizens' reception to the eastern visitors, in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce, under the auspices of the Chamber and the Ladies' Annex, last night, was a success. Several hundred people were present, as it was an informal affair, and all enjoyed themselves to their hearts' content. Members of the Pennsylvania excursion, who were compelled to go to Redondo Sunday to get lodgings on account of a scarcity of rooms in this city, came back last night especially to attend the reception, and they were more than paid for their trouble.

A WAVE OF ECONOMY.

A WAYE OF ECONOMY.

The Supply Committee reported back the requisition of the City Engineer for a horse and buggy without recommendation.

Then a wave of economy spread over the chamber and Councilman Nickell emoved that the requisition be denied. The motion was adopted, only Council Summerland voting nay.

Councilman Nickell then moved that the Finance Committee investigate and ascer-tain how many horses the city was feeding for the heads of departments, and that in the future street car bills of city officials be

Consideration of the City Attorney's report was resumed, and two ordinances, which were reported—one fixing the salary of the City Justice's cierk, and the other making it unlawful to kill song birds in the city limits—were passed under a suspension of the rules.

In the matter of the opening of Second street, the City Attorney reported as follows:

"An ordinance changing the name of Davies street having been passed by the Council, while the ordinance for the opening of said street was still under consideration, I have drawn a new ordinance for the opening of said street under its new name, and herewith present the same to the Council. It is also so drawn as to meet the objections of the Superior Court in a recent case decided."

In this connection a communication was read from property-owners asking that East Second street be speedliy opened, after which the ordfanace was passed unanlimously under a suspension of the rules.

Councilman McGarry childed attention to not paid.

Councilman McGarry moved as an amendment, that a special committee be appointed to make an investigation into the matter, and report. This motion was adopted, and the President appointed Councilmen McGarry, Nickell and Alford as the committee.

On motion of Councilman Summerland,
Mr. Gaffey, a member of the Board of Edu-cation from the Eighth Ward, was granted thirty days' leave of absence.

RESERVOIR SITE NO. 4. The report of the special committee ap-pointed to investigate as to the title to res-ervoir site No. 4 was taken up. The report of the committee gave a history of the title read from property-owners asking that East Second street be speedily opened, after which the ordinance was passed unanimously under a suspension of the rules. Councilman McGarry chiled attention to the fact that the Second Street Railroad Company had been instructed to place their tracks on grade, and had paid no attention to the order. He therefore moved that the City Attorney be instructed to commence action against the company, which motion prevailed by a unanimous vote.

The City Attorney please presented an ordinance calling a special election for March eith for the purpose of submitting the question to the people of funding a portion of the city's debt, which passed under suspension of the rules.

The remainder of the City Attorney's report was then read, as follows, and action taken as indicated:

"About three years ago H. W. Latham brought an action against the city to quiet ittle to the property known as the Plaza Engline House, which action was tried before I came into office, and was decided by Judge Hutton in favor of Latham. By instructions of the Council I prepared the case on appeal to the Suprème Court, which court about two weeks ago affirmed the decision of Judge Hutton and decided that the city had no title to this lot. From my knowledge of the case I am satisfied that it would be a useless expenditure of money to apply for a rehearing in the matter, and I therefore recommend that the Council take steps to either rent this property, if it is any longer desired for engilie-house purpose, or eise move out." Finance Committee.

"In July, 1886, the city entered into a contract in writing with W. T. Williams by which it agreed in consideration of his assisting the Open Atterney in all litigation concerning the opening of Los Angeles street, that the city would pay him $1000. After the street had been opened Williams presented his demand for the $1000, which was rejected by the Council, and he brought an action thereon, which case was tried by a jury before Judge Wade, and judgment rendered in favo of the city to the site of the reservoir. It came from a canal and dam company, which owned a right to overflow sixty acres of land, the city paying $8000 for it. The easement allowed the construction of a 40-foot dam. A 25-foot dam was put at the reservoir, that being as high as the public sarety would allow. When the water is within ten feet of the top of this dam the water covers 18 1-100 acres; when it reaches the top 28 and 38-100 are covered. The proposition now is to deed to the owners of the reservoir the northerly one-half of the site, and for the owners to entirely deed the southerly one-half to the city "for park and reservoir purposes." of the city to the site of the reservoir. It half to the city "for park and reservoir purposes."

Mr. McGarry, was opposed to this. He did not think the city was getting a fair deal. The city owned a right to overflow those sixty-six acros. What good was that land to any one so long as the city heid that right to overflow? It was tantamount to an absolute ownership, and he didn't think that in receiving only a deed "for reservoir and park purposes" the city was getting a fair deal.

Mr. Tufts announced himself as opposed to devoting this land for park purposes. He was opposed to establishing a lot of fittle parks all over the city and voting money to maintain them. He wanted to see big and grand pleasure parks in the city where maintain them. He wanted to see big and grand pleasure parks in the city where people could go on Sundays and recreate themselves. For 5 cents you could travel to any of the large parks from any part of the city, but the idea of putting a park down in this hole, which is fit for nothing effect in the world than for reservoir purposes, was to his notion an idle one. This place would be needed for reservoir purposes all the time for years hence. It would be a long time before a reservoir could be established on the outside of the city.

After some considerable discussion the re-port of the committee was adopted. ELECTRIC LIGHTS

The Gas and Light Committee reported in favor of granting several petitions for new electric light masts.

Councilman lines gave it out flat that he was opposed to any increase of the electric light service.

THE BROADWAY MATTER.

On the conclusion of the reading of the THE CITY CORRAL.

The matter of a city corral came up next, The Land Committee reported recommend-ing that the site offered by Mrs. Madigan be pepted and a lease drawn up at $30 per onth. The site is at the corner of Aliso and Alameda streets.

The City Superintendent stated that right then there was two feet of water in that then there was two sees of water in state corral.

The whole matter went over for one week and the committee was instructed to receive new bids.

The Mayor's veto of the contract for the construction of a bridge across the Arroyo de Bos Posos was reported adversely by the special committee to whom it was referred. The contract was approved and the City Attorney was instructed to sign in behalf of the City.

The Board of Public Works report was then read and the recommendations as made and previously printed in The Times, were adopted.

The report of the Committee of the Whole

Joe Bayer appeared and asked that his name be taken from the protest, as did also one or two others.

Mr. Minor also appeared before the Council, and spoke against the opening of the street, on the ground that the award of benefits and damages were not equitable, but were out of proportion in certain specified instances, and thought that at least the matter should be referred back for a re-adjustment of the assessments.

Mr. Minor proceeded at some length, when Councilman McGarry interrupted him to say that he had a communication from Mr. Melville, a searcher of records, to the effect that the records showed that Broadway, or Fort street, had been dedicated through to Pico street. It this was the case, there was no necessity for continuing the matter further. Therefore he moved that the matter be referred to the City Attorney and Land Committee of the Council to investigate the matter. He did not believe that the city should pay other people for land which already belonged to the corporation.

Councilman Rees said he would support fixing water rates for the year commencing July 1, 1891 was submitted by Chairman Rhodes. The ordinance was read by the clerk. Councilman Alford moved to amend the ordinance by making the rate for a three-roomed house 75 cents, with ten cents for each additional room.

three-roomed house 75 cents, with ten cents for each additional room.

Councilman Rhodes thought that the report as made by the committee should stand without change.

The report of the City Attorney bearing upon the subject was read as follows:

"I have drawn in accordance with the instructions of your committee an ordinance fixing the water rates for the coming year. I respectfully submit the following suggestions in regard to the same: The restriction in Section 2 that the water complanies shall have the right where there is a large consumption or waste of water to apply meters and collect meter rates, except as to private residences and lawns, is a discrimination.

The protestants aliese that the proposed improvement is not demanded by any public necessity at this time, that it is burdensome, and that the ordinance passed the old Council by the votes of at least two members who were directly or locally interested in the matter.

Joe Bayer appeared and asked that his name be taken from the protest, as did also one or two others.

THE rain has ceased for a time, and the present storm is probably over. It was a good soaker while it lasted, and will prove of incalculable benefit to the farmers of Los Angeles. Mr. Thomas Neimes, an observer of Pasadena, reports the rainfall there during the past storm, up to noon yes terday, 3.28 inches, and altogether for the season 8.32 inches, which is considerably more than has fallen in Los Mr. Nelmes says he never recorded so large an amount of rainfall which came so gently as during the past eighteen hours. Falling in this manner, it is of more benefit; to the lands than when it comes down like a waterspout.

ELSEWHERE in today's TIMES is printed a further, more detailed and ore graphic account of the scenes following the arrival of the late King Kalakaua's remains at the capital of his island kingdom. This correspondence was procured for THE TIMES through the courtesy of Admiral Brown of the Charleston, to whom we are indebted. The letter was written by a Honolulu journalist familiar with all the factswith the country and the people. It is an authoritative description of a sad and notable event. The scenes described; the demonstrations of respect and of grief; the sudden rude, transformation of manifold emblems of welcome and rejoicing displayed in the island capital, into tokens of mourning, show the love and respect in which the late monarch was held by his people, as well as by foreign residents of the country. 'Kalakaus, aloha!"

THE IMPROVEMENT OF HIGH WAYS,

There is considerable prejudice, on the part of some people, against the 'cyclers, but there is one good thing which they are doing that is of great importance, and makes up for many shortcomings—whatever they may be —in other directions. This is the determined effort that is being made by the League of American Wheel-men to bring about an im-provement in the roads of the country. With this object in view neat booklet has been issued by the league, containing a series of articles on the subject of making and care of good roads. These articles are inshould be carefully read by every poard of supervisors and roadmaster in the State. It is interesting to see that public interest in the subject of improved highways is increasing, to ige from the fact that 15,000 copies of this little book were sold in less han seven months.

It has been suggested that the de-gree of a nation's civilization might be gauged by the condition of its roads. As the League observes, this would be a mortifying test to apply to our own country, for it would place us not only below France, where all the country roads are said to be actually swept every morning, and Germany and land, but even below some of the States of Asia and Northern Africa. The difference between a good road and a bad one was accurately demonstrated by Gen. Q. A. Gilmore's experiments with a dynamomster, which proved that any one of the better class of permanent roadways would enable a team to draw on the drawn on a common dirt road, and by the statement of Clemens Herschel civil engineer, that on the roads of England a horse can perform twice as much work as the same animal could accomplish in America. The writer of the namphlet sava accomplish in America. The writer of the pamphlet says:

That such considerations are not more generally recognized is to be explained only by: the fact that the greater part of the people of the United States never saw a good road, and know nothing of the economy with which one can be maintained, or the comfort which the use of one confers. The "sandpapered" roads in the suburbs of Boston and the Valley Pike 20 Virginia—over which Sheridan's horses hauled locomotives—have a kind of national fame, as something almost phenomenal, whereas there is no reason why all the main roads, in the thickly settled parts of the country at least, should not approach as high a standard. Indeed, the better roads in the United States are usually found where the natural conditions were so bad that the ordinary crude and wasteful expedients were out of the question. The fine drives in the neighborhood of some summer resort also show that good roads can be had, whatever the obstacles to overcome, when the demand for them is urgent. There can be no doubt that when a community has learned the benefits which good roads confer, and the actual economy of their construction and maintenance, a revolution in the methods of caring for highways will sweep over it.

In England a Road Improvement

In England a Road Improvement Association gathers and distributes information regarding the proper mainenance of the roads, and keeps alive interest in the subject. In the United states a movement for better roadschiefly effected by the wheelman-has egun in Georgia, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Massachusetts.

In Southern California, owing to our climatic condition-a long, dry season, without showers, and then frequent rains during a period of three or four months—the keeping of roads in good order is a more than usually difficult task and demands special study. It is a very important matter to us, as, besides the agricultural view of the case, there is also the esthetic side, which also involves a question of money. Many of our visitors from the East are who enjoy driving. They would often stay longer if we had good roads and this section would be more popular in every way as a resort. Suppo level roads, lined with trees, good at all seasons of the year; leading in every direction from Los Angeles, not be a vast

A STRANGE SELECTION. A dispatch from San Francisco announces that the Executive Committee of the California World's Fair Association has recommended Walter S Maxwell, of this city, for the position of head of the Department of Horti-culture at the World's Fair. It was unmored here that Mr. Maxwell was an applicant for the position, but the matter was treated more as a joke that anything else, as Maxwell's special knowledge of horticulture. if he has any, is known only to himself. it would, however, be anything but a joke to have the most important indus-try of the State, the industry which we depend upon to attract immigration. represented at the Fair by a man wh is not well informed upon the subject. Such a position as this should be filled by some such practical horticulturist as Eliwood Cooper of Santa Barbara, A. T. Hatch of Solano, Gen. HONOLULU (H. I.,) Feb. 7.—[Special Correspondence of THE TIMES.] When the sun plunged into the Pacific on the evening of Wednesday, January 28, it left among the obstructions of the night in Hondlulu some strange structures. These were in the form of triumphal arches in various stages of progress. Their purpose was to be part of a royal reception to a living King, who was expected home from his visit to the United States by the United States flagship Charleston on the following Saturday. The only questions were whether the ship had sailed from San Francisco on the 27th, and whether it was in her to make the passage in seven days.

Thursday, the 29th, had only dawned when the incredible message was tele-phoned from the Diamond Head lookout station that the Charleston was in sight. The supplementary part of the message made the former word sadly credible. "Stars and Stripes and the Hawaiian flag at half-mast." This was enough. The Charleston would not be far ahead of time excepting upon an extraordinary errand. Either she had hastened a way on a desperate endeavor far ahead of time excepting upon an extraordinary errand. Either she had hastened away on a desperate endeavor to let King Kalakaua die in his own dominion, and the attempt had proved vain from his dying at sea, or his death on the Pacific Coast had hurried the ship to his native strand for honored burial.

"It might be the Chamberlain, or the Aide, or one of the officers of the ship, died on the voyage?" some ventured to suggest. The answer to all such was swift and irresistible: "If the King was not dead or expecting soon to die, the Charleston would not be here at this time." The worst was soon proved to be the truth, as affirmed by signals from the Charleston to the U.S. S. Mohican, when the former rounded the heads, and later by the return of a steam launch sent from the Mohican. Flags were immediately put at half.

steam launch sent from the Mohican. Flags were immediately put at half-mast and the yards crossed on the Mohican and H. B. M. S. Nymphe. One after another flags on the mercantile marine dropped into mourning position; also the government, diplomatic, consular and private flags on shore. Hon. Samuel Parker, member of the Privy Council and of the House of Nobles, bore to the widowed Queen and the queened sister at the palace verbal confirmation of their high-pitched fears.

Mr. Joseph O. Carter, who was one of the King's most trusted friends, was the first to board the Charleston, going out in the Mohican's launch. Capt. Shepard of the Mohican accompanied out in the Mohican's launch. Capt. Shepard of the Mohican accompanied him and presented him to Admiral Brown, who immediately entrusted Mr. Carter with all the official dispatches for the Hawaiian government. Mr. Carter, who is a brother of the Hawaiian Minister at Washington, has also long enjoyed the confidence of Princess, now Queen Liliuokalani, and his wife has been her closest companion of all foreign lady residents for panion of all foreign lady residents for panion of air loreign lady residents for many years. These circumstances, it may be said in passing, cause a general belief that if Her Majesty makes any changes in the cabinet before nex session of the Legislature, Mr. Carter will be a minister, and probably the

Judge McCully, presiding at the Jan-Judge McCully, presiding at the January, term of the Supreme Court, at the hour of opening adjourned the court for the day, stating he should have done so for longer only that a trial was half finished. The schools were also dismissed in honor of the lamented King. Business houses in the European guster, were generally closed. pean quarter were generally closed, and the work of draping buildings with mainmast, below Admiral Brown's flag at the head. The Stars and Stripes were half-high at the peak. Black crape swathed the bridges, the conning towers, davits, railings and cables, glv-ing the ship a sombre appearance, in painful contrast to the bright and gay aspect all her appointments were as painful contrast to the bright and gay aspect all her appointments were as she steamed away two months before with the living King on the quarter-deck, alternately waving adieus to his people and wiping away the irrepressible tears. As the Charleston swung into her anchorage abreast of the other warships, native women lifted up their votees in the Hawaiian wailing, customary in "rejoicing with them ing, customary in "rejoicing with them that do rejoice and mourning with them that mourn." This was the first nstance of demonstrative grief in coninstance of demonstrative grief in con-mection with the sad surprise to the kingdom. The natives who bore the largest proportion in the cosmopolitan crowds on the wharves and shipping, chatted and even laughed as the vessel approached with its mournful freight of their King's remains. Regarding this strange fact more will be appropri-ate in another part of my communica-tion.

LANDING OF THE BODY. All day long crowds hovered on the water front, although by noon the word went round that the King's body would not be landed till 5 o'clock. Preparations for the fitting ceremonies

"Fireman King," it bore the simple, sofrowful sentiment, "We Mourn Our Loss." An arch at the main gate to the palace grounds, with an inscription similar to that at the landing, and having a gilt crown at the apex, was also covered with mourning, but the royal arms in colors were left exposed on the pillars.

The landing arrangements were in charge of Capt. Shepard, U. S. N. Awaiting the body at the landing as the time approached were their Excellencies John A. Cummins, C. N. Spencer, Godfrey Brown and A. P. Peterson, Ministers of the Crown; his excellency, John L. Stephens, United States Minister Plenipotentiary; Mr. H. L. Severance, United States Consul. General, and Mr. F. A. Shaefer, Dean of Consular Corps. Hou, John Kauhikou, Privy Councilor, and Mr. C. W. Ashford, ex-Attorney-General, were also present. At eighteen minutes to five the Charleston started firing minute guns, being joined by the Mohican and the Hawaiian shore battery. Three minutes later a steam barge, closely followed by two rowing barges, wheeled into the dock. From these there landed Admiral Brown and staff, Capt. Remey and officers of the Charleston, Capt. Shepard and officers of the Mohican, Capt. Turner and officers of the Mohican capt. Samuel Parker, under orders from the palace to take delivery of the royal remains on board the flagship, and Hon. R. Hoaplii Baker, who accompanied the late King to California as aide-de-camp.

ship, and Hon. R. Hospill Baker, who accompanied the late King to California as side-de-camp.

The third boat to appear being fitted up as a catafalque, was easily recognized as the one bearing the King's body. It halted at the entrance to the dock, while a great flotilla swept into the landing in graceful curves from opposite directions. From the boats were landed a body of forty United States marines, three companies of blue jackets from the Charleston, two companies of blue jackets from the Nymphe. The forces, numbering 230 or 240 rank and file, were formed in line on Fort street, at the foot of which the landing is situated, and all being in readiness, the catafalque drew up to the wharf at precisely 5 o'clock. H. H. Williams & Oo. had an elegant hearse, drawn by four black horses, in waiting, to which the coffin was carried by a squad of blue jackets over a carpeted path. When removing it from the boat it was necessary to divest the coffin of the now faded floral tributes placed on it by sympathetic hands at San Francisco.

A vast concourse was at the landing, and the only two short months before. OUEEN LILIUOKALANI PROCLAIMED. Her Royal Highness Princess Lili-uokalani, appointed Regent on the de-parture of King Kalakaua for Califorparture of Kifg Kalakaua for California, took the oath of office as Queen of the Hawaiian Islands at 2 o'clock on the afternoon of January 29. Under the constitution promulgated by Kalakaua in 1887 at the revolution, she was required to swear to and subscribe that constitution. This Her Majesty did with great deliberation, having asked the ministers previously if it was precessory to sign the constitution. Majesty did with great deliberation, having asked the ministers previously if it was necessary to sign the constitution. The oath was administered by Chancellor Judd in presence of the Privy Council of State and the Cabinet. At 3 o'clock the ministry issued the proclamation of Liliubkalani's sovereignty which Marshal Hopkins read aloud at the government building, and other public places in the city. This important event excited very slight interest, the heir apparent's peaceful succession, in such an event as had occurred, having been a forgone conclusion.

such an event as had occurred, having been a forgone conclusion.

Amongst certain disquieting rumors regarding eventualities on the King's returning alive, there was none of any trouble about the succession when the possibility of his returning a lifeless form was discussed. There are reasons for this, which may be given in remarks on the political situation. Notice was promptly issued by the Supreme Court, that, from and after the date of accession, "all warrants and other processes of all the Courts of this Kingdom must be in the name of Liliuokalaui, by the grace of God, of the Hawaiian Islands, Queen." The casket in which the body came from California was placed on a table in the middle of the throne room. Over the table was spread a large feather cloak, which formerly belonged to Nahienaena, a chiefess of renown, sister of Kamehameha I. Another feather cloak covered the casket, all but the glass front, through which was visible the worn features of Kalakaua. Torches were burning in the room, they being symbols of the King's descent. He was a descendant of the renowned chief Iwikaulakaua, who burned his symbol' of ancient rank and 'sovereignty in the day time, hence it is known among Hawailans as the "Kukuialkea wakea" (the torch that burns at midday.) Two Kanakas were noticed present who had observed the ancient disfiguring custom by shaving parts of the scalp. This custom may be kept for suy beloved one, whether chief or commoner, and is called "maewaewa" or "manewanewa." Not only by the men shaving the head and the women clipping the hair, but by either sex breaking out a front tooth is the rite accomplished.

Queen Liliuokalani was also present, evincing deep emotion, as were other members of the royal family and household. Native subjects—men, women and children—kept up a continual wailing. morial service in St. Andrew's Anglican Cathedral, of which His late Majesty was a communicant. His Lordship preached an eloquent discourse, in which he gave facts to disprove any statements of the King's lack of sincerity in his professed faith. Other local preachers referred to the national loss in fitting terms in their sormons. Two mass meetings of citizens have passed resolutions of condelence to the Queen Regent and Queen Dowager, and of gratitudes to the United States, the State of Californis, the city of San Francisco and Admiral Brown. The fire department and Chamber of Commerce have passed similar resolutions. It is safe to say that Admiral Brown stands second to no man on the islands in popularity, on account of his more than brotherly devotion to the King's presence and to his memory. In every assembly when his name is mentioned, it is the signal for applause. The Hawaiians, even those whose sentiments toward the person of the late sovereign may have been equivocal, love the gallant Admiral because he showed kindness to an alii of their race and nation.

more radical sims, may be relied on as supporters of the clown so long as the crown maintains the constitution inviolate. The disturbers of 1889, whatever their real objects were at that time, have since their scarcely tried to co ceal their dissatisfaction with Kalakaua, and been geterally suspected only to lack Lilluckalant's consent and power on their own part, to place her on the throne in her now-mourned brother's stead. Another element that, to some extent, sympathized with the outbreak of 1889, consists of the natives who call themselves "Queen Emma men." The soreness of these over their lamented favorite's defeat by the late King, in the election of a ruler in 1874, now probably disappears with Kalakaua's death. Doubless the general exhibition of loyal regret at the King's demise, on the part of the foreign elements, will have a very conciliatory effect on all Hawaiians. Native unity was very effectually promoted by the revolution of 1887, as, however divided on the question of dynasty or general politics, there was practically a single-eyed feeling of resentment provoked at the plot to dethrone the Hawaiian King.

politics, there was practically a singleeyed feeling of resentment provoked at the plot to dethrone the Hawaiian King.

Within a few days of the expected arrival of the King to resume his throne, whispers of a plot to prevent his doing so were in circulation.
These rumors were given a degree of credence from the observed activity of certain foreign adventurers and native malcontents. Some of the suspected foreigners seemed to show their hands by exhibitions of embarrassment illconcealed, at the sudden turn of affairs caused by the arrival of the Charleston on her sorrowful mission. If they had rested any hopes of connivance on the regent's part, by her ambition being fully excited to accept their aid, these hopes were now blasted by her constitutional accession without thanks to them. There are few, however, who believe, if a sinister movement was in existence, that its authors had the courage or the resqurees to attempt the stroke. Only this much is known, that, before the knowledge of the King's death was an hour old, frantic endeavors were made by certain politiclans to gain interviews with Her new Majesty. These being frustrated, a message was transmitted to the Queen, to the effect that a plot was on foot to keep her off the throne, and warning her to look out!
t Queen Lilluckalani is generally credited with a sound discretion that will keep her from doing anything rashly. Probably nobody need advise her that her crown can be placed in safer keeping than if entrusted to persons who had tried to involve her in mischievous enterprises for their own selfish advantage.

About the only question at present mischievous enterprises for their own selfish advantage.

About the only question at present deemed a tangible one is whether the Queen will try to supply herself with a new cabinet, or allow the pool of affairs to remain placid ubtil rippled by the general election due a year hence. There is no doubt that the business community and the conservative elements generally would prefer to see the present ministers recommissioned, and probably this preference is entertained even by most of those who have confidence that Her Majesty's choice of men would be wise in the event of her making a change. There are strong reaing a change. There are strong rea-sons to be derived from the spirit of the sons to be derived from the spirit of the fundamental law—its letter not exactly fitting the existing conditions—why the present ministers should hold office until dismissed by the Legislature or they voluntarily resign. At all events, under the consiliution, the circumstances of the case should, if they demand a new ministry, require a new legislature also. The present legislature, shortly before adjournment, voted its confidence in the ministry, and if a new sovereign may set aside the will of the legislature, it might be claimed that she could also set asid the legislature, in which case her duty would be to ask the people to elect a new legthat she could also set asid the legislature, in which case her duty would be to ask the people to elect a new legislature. If that is the logical result of a change of ministry, however, all who desire peace and prosperity will cry out for the retention of the present ministers; for about the last thing a well-wisher of the country would ask for now is a general election, with its clamor of faction and interruption of commercial and industrial activity.

IRATE PHYSICIANS. Drs. Trosseau and McGrew, physicians to His late Majesty, are much annoyed at statements published in San Francisco to the effect that they had advised in favor of his making the trip. It was well known here within a day or two of the King's departure, that Dr. Trousseau declined emphatically to recommend him to the journey, telling His Majesty that with his supply the phase of climate would ney, telling His Majesty that with his malady the change of climate would be taken at the peril of his life. In-deed, discussion of the matter had be-come so common that the well-informed residents were prepared for the worst when they first heard of the King's indisposition. DANIEL LOGAN.

Mr. Quay addressed the Senate in refutation of charges circulated against him: He said, in part:

Never, probably, since Alexander Hamilton was hunted to his death has one in public life been pursued so persistently and malignantly. The field of malign effort has been the entire Union. The assaults were of a character so monstrous as largely to carry with them their own refutation. Were it otherwise I could not remain, nor would my constituents permit me to remain, a member of this Senate. Now, when no heated political conflict is raging, when neither hope nor fear can be deemed the inspiration of my utterances, I choose briefly to confront the accusations with the truth. It is not my purpose to weary the Senate by a rehearsal of each detail of the mass of misrepresentation. Nevertheless, avoiding prolixity. I will endeavor to make this statement specific and so complete as to be final. The first assertion concerning my official acts is that some time or continuously between will endeavor to make this statement specific and so complete as to be final. The first assertion concerning my official acts is that some time or continuously between the years of 1879 and 1822 I, alone or acting with another or others, used moneys of the State of Pennsylvania for speculative or private purposes. I denounce the statement as absolutely faise. In 1877 the Democratic party of Pennsylvania elected the State Treasurer and Auditor General, the financial officers of the commonwealth. A year or two later, pending their terms of office, I became engaged in stock operations. In some transactions I was associated and jointly interested with a gentleman who was at that time cashier of the State Treasury. These transactions proved seriously disastrous, and I was compelled to pay a portion of his losses as well as my own. In doing this it became necessary to supply an alieged deficiency he had caused in the treasury. As a portion of the fund for this purpose I borrowed $100,000 from the gentleman who is at present my colleague in the Schate. I gave my judgment note there for, the amount of which I paid to him, dollar for dollar, years so. Not until the beginning of the settlement of our losses was I aware that the deficiency existed, and I had every assurance that my associate was able to carry his share of the losses. Kegarding the charge that again I used moneys belonging to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to purchase bonds or stock of the Chleago Street Railway, I would say that I borrowed the money i used upon my own collateral from the People's Bank in Philadelphia. The only negotiable securities held by the State of Pennsylvania are registered bonds or the United States, transferable only in the books of the National Treasure acting jointly, after having filed a certificate with the Governor in their official character.

The charge that I defrauded, or attempted to defraud, is also absolutely false. There breatkes not upon earth a man or woman who can truthfully say that I ever defrauded, or attempte if they see proper.

Referring to his action as a member of the Board of Pardons of Pennsylof the Board of Pardons of Pennsylvania in voting for the pardon of certain members of the Legislature and others upon whom sentence had been passed for bribery, Mr. Quay said the facts were thoroughly discussed before his election as State Treasurer and subsequently to the Senate. cordance with law and with the action of his colleagues and was compelled by the fact that the sentence imposed by the fact that the sentence imposed by the court was filegal. The Attorney-General had filed an opinion in harmony with their decision.

The charge that he attempted to procure the pardon of a man named Lynch, under sentence for forgery, by threats delivered personally to Mr. Byers of Pittsburgh, was a lie. Equally false is the story of his escape from the Pittsburgh rioters of 1877 under the tutelage of Dalzell. Mr. Quay said he would have to delve into ancient history to dispose of the charge of bribery and corruption as a member of the Pennsylvania Legislature nearly twenty-five years ago, in ancient history to dispose of the charge of bribery and corruption as a member of the Pennsylvania Legislature nearly twenty-five years ago, in connection with the action for libel against the then editor of the Pittsburgh Commercial. He added:

With characteristic malignity my assailants have been careful to emphasize the fact that the case was nover pushed for irial. They fail to state that the libel was retracted and the defendants paid the costs of the case and fees of counsel. In the pre-iminary hearing an effort was made to show that I was a rich man; that my wealth was unlawfully acquired. I had been prothonotary for Beaver county from 1856 to 1851, when I resigned to go into the Union army. I served as private secretary to Gov. Curtin, was military agent of the State in this city, chief of the State Department of Transportation and Telegraphs, and for three terms had been a member of the Pennsylvania Legislature. My recollection is that the examination disclosed the fact that after nearly 12 years of industry and apportunity my fortune was $8000.

The accussion that over twenty years ago attemded to bribe Alexander P. Tuitoo, then Supervisor of Internal levenue for the Eastern Distlet of Pennsylvania, to prevent the seizure of an tillicit distillery, is a wicked and maliceleous faisehood. Tutton is now living at Dowington, Pa, and his reports are on file, I presume, in the Internal Revenue Bureau. The statement has been made that when the present high license statute of Pennsylvania was pending in the Legislature of that State the liquor dealers of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh raised a sun specified as $80,000 and gave it to me, and to a Federal officer in Philadelphia, who is not named, for the purpose of securing an amendment to that legislation in their interest. This I also denounce as an absolute falsehood.

Finally, I reach the charge that in some mysterious way I brought about the defeat

They are false and foul to the core.

At the conclusion of Mr. Quay's remarks the Senate resumed consideration of the Diplomatic and Consular Appropriation Bill, to which the following amendment was agreed to in executive session:

By Telegraph to The Times. CHICAGO, Feb. 16.—[By the Asso tion to the $20,000 in Federal bonds alleged plot to blow up with dynamite Shufeldt's distillery, it was voted that an indictment be found against Gibson ing the proper counts on which the Whisky Trust secretary will be tried. sion, manufacture and guilty knowledge of explosives intended to be used for the injury of any building or person. The board of directors at the close of the meeting this afternoon made the following statement:

We are holding our regular mouthly meeting in Chlearo instead of Peoria, for the purpose of ascertaining the truth in respect to the charges made against the secretary of the company. Such widespread publicity has been given to the charges, and so many false rumors are being spread through the press, that we deem it our duty to make a brief statement. Since our election as directors we have devoted our time and best endeavors by honorable methods, for the establishment of the business of the company on a paying basis. We made such progress in this direction that for many months the company has been earning, and paying monthly dividends of one-half of I percent, equal to 6 per cent per annum on its stock, and has, in addition, put aside a surplus each month, our business showing continuously a large increase in the output for every month over the output for the corresponding months of preceding years. Outside competition has never been felt as little as during the p st six months. In the midst of our unexampled prosperity, that any one interested in the company should imperit the immense interests of its stockholders by such a scheme as is charged, we think no sane man will believe. In regard to Gibson we have to say that the gentleman is a man of character and high standing, and he has been a faithful and efficient secretary of the company, and that we do not credit in the least that he is guilty of the crime charged against him. The interests of the company will, in our judgment, in no wise be affected by this charge.

Small Congressional Salaries.
(Century.)
"If any provide not for his own he is worse than an infidel," even if he neglects his family to make laws or to interpret them for his country. A man who is dependent upon what he earns, and who can earn $10,000 or $15.000 or $50.000 at year outside. Congresses is $20,000 a year outside Congress, is going to think twice before he sacrifices that income for a salary on which he cannot have a home in the city where he must live more than half the time, and cannot give his children the education which he has planned for them. And if he thinks twice, the chances are greatly against his going to Washington, or tying himself down to Washington, or tying himself down to an even smaller salary if he be a lawyer and the path opens for him to a seat in a Federal court.

The present system operates to fill Congress with men whose wenlth is so great that the size of the salary is a matter of indiffrence. The tendency to elect to the Senate and the House men who are rich and who would never the salary is a season. to elect to the Senate and the House men who are rich, and who would never have been thought of for such office except for their riches, is already so strong as to be alarming, and yet the Nation goes on year after year neglecting one perfectly obvious way to resist it. Make the salary of a Congressman large enough for one to live as well at the close of the century as a Senator or a Representative lived at its beginning, and seats which now often go without a contest to unqualified millionaires will again be sought by men who are capable of rendering the best service to the State.

trenched two feet deep, and left until the spring, when a top-dressing of soot is applied. In March or April the ground is raked and made ready to receive the onions, the seed of which was sown the last week in February, in boxes, then hardened off, and planted the first week in May, in drills eighteen inches apart, seven inches being allowed from plant to plant. There are two rows of onions, then a path two feet wide and two rows of onions again, and so on. The beds are top-dressed with well-spent manure, and several doses of soot are sown broadcast during the season; the beds being well watered in dry weather, thoroughly soaked between the rows, the two-foot path between each two drills being very convenient for the purpose. This method of cultivation produced the finest bed of onions ever grown in the United Kingdom. Hundreds of bulbs could be picked weighing from a pound to a pound and a half each and scores from 2 pounds to 2‡ pounds, a dozen bulbs scaled 28‡ pounds and six bulbs 15‡ pounds bulbs 154 pounds

Other Locals of Interest-Two Bar People Who Formerly Lived Among Us-Tennis Notes. Brevities.

A citizen of considerable prominence who is well up on matters local, yesterday greeted THE TIMES reporter about as follows: "Say, don't you think you've been sailing into the railroad people pretty hard of late?"

don't own a dollar's worth of stock in either of our railroads, I am free to say that their side of the late controversy has not been heard. What's all the price of the price don't own a dollar's worth of stock in either of our railroads, I am free to say that their side of the late controversy has not been heard. What's all the fuss about anyhow? Simply because the price of commutation tickets was raised from $5 to $7 a month, and how many people does this effect? I'll venture to assert there are not over forty regular Pasadena commuters to Los Augeles. This means a gain of $30 to the rain.

"As to that reported action of the Railroad Commission, surely there must be some mistake. The commissioners would hardly act immediately on receipt of a letter from Pasadena's City Attorney and without hearing any testimony on the other side. Indeed, I have it from headquarters that the Terminal officials have as yet received no word of any kind from the commission.

CONVICTED OF BLACKMAIL

Two Former Pasadenans Attain Unpleasant Notoriety.
Sunday's issue of The Times contained an Associated Press dispatch from Berlin giving an account of a sensational blackmail case which has lately been tried there. Both princi-pals in the exciting episode were formerly residents of Pasadena. They are a German-American composer of some note named Seifert, and a wealthy American widow named Mrs. McGuire. Winter before last both lived in Pasadena, where Dr. McGuire, the woman's husband, died. Both left about the same time.

the woman's substant, died. Both left town about the same time.

Seifert, it seems, has since been diverced from his first wife and went abroad with the widow at her expense. Recently he became enamored of the widow's maid, and married her, but still kept open the purse-strings of his former paramour by threats of blackmail. He was neatly trapped in his scheming by detectives, and as a result of the trial that followed was convicted for attempted blackmail and sentenced to two years' imprisonment. Both Seifert and Mrs. McGuire were well known here.

THE GOMING TOURNAMENT.

Pasadena Players Preparing for the Fray. The crack players of the Pasadena Tennis Club are looking forward with a good deal of interest to the tournament to be given the latter part of the month by the Los Angeles club.

The prizes are unusually handsome and costly. Here is the list, published for the first time: Gentlemen's singles-first prize, a Sears' special racsecond prize, a pair of patent leather shoes of the best make; ladies' singles-first prize, pair extra fine dies' singles—first prize, pair extra fine tennis shoes; second prize, gold pen and holder; mixed doubles—first prizes, a silk negligé tennis shirt, made to order for both the lady and gentleman; second prize, five-pound box of crystalized fruits. Men's doubles—first prize, a derby hat for each of the players; second prize, silk shirts. Ladies' doubles—first prize to be selected; second prize, five-pound box of French ben-bons.

Among the clubs likely to be represented are Santa Monica, Pasadena, Alhambra, Duarte, Sierra Madre, Palomares of San Diego, the Boyle
Heights Club of Los Angeles, the Naranga of Tustin, and the University Club. Pasadena will likely be represented by Mr. Runyon, Misses English and Shoemaker, and possibly others.
The matches will be open to all except the present champions—Robt. Carter and Miss Carter of Duarte.

PROOF AGAINST RAIN.

The Terminal Trains Run on Time in Spite of the Storm.
The Terminal road suffered little damage from the rain yesterday. The water made several soft ploces in the track and there was a small landslide on the embankment just south of Highland Park station. The bank between the Santa Fé and Terminal tracks at the south end of the Raymond cut was also partially caved in and the loose dirt for a time blocked up the water gully. The section hands, however, were on the alert during the day and the trains were not delayed nor travel in any way rotarded.

General Passenger Agent Wincup passed over the line in the afternoon to see that ali was right. The officials now think the track is proof against rein nowatter how gevere. rain, no matter how severe.

THE OUTLOOK IN ORANGE.

The Grape and the Wainut Industry. Citrus Fair. SANTA ANA, Feb. 16.—[Correspond-ence of The Times.] There is little doubt that the phyloxera and other vine blights have entirely disappeared from this section, and so sanguine are viticulturists that large acreage is now being put into the Mission, Muscal and Rose of Peru varieties of grapes. In the Tustin district, J. W. Crew is clearing new land wich he will devote exclusively to raisin grapes, while at exclusively to raisin grapes, while at El Modena and along certain sections of the foothills, grape culture will again receive attention. The fact that old vines, which were supposed to have been dead and the locality abandoned, have given forth young vines of a healthy and thriving appearance, has given heart to those who suffered from the dreaded vine disease; and Orange county may yet be able to again claim the right to be advertised to the country as a raisin and wine-producing section.

The planting of walnuts is at present receiving a great amount of attention, as many as 500 acres having been planted east and southeast of this city within the last few weeks, while at Garden Grove and vicinity, a syndicate within the last few weeks, while at Garden Grove and vicinity, a syndicate has purchased an immense tract of land which will be devoted exclusively to the propagation of this very desirable and profitable article of commerce. In the latter locality artesian wells abound, and the subject of irrigation is of secondary importance. The softshell walnut, a most excellent variety, is receiving the most attention by planters. They come into bearing at four and five years from the seed, being a vigorous grower and an abundant bearer. Seven-year old trees, last year, bore 150 pounds of nuts to the tree, and the same tree this year promises to turn out from one hundred and seventy-five to two hundred pounds to the tree. Last year 12 to 13 cents per pound were ruling quotations, while some held their crops as high as 15 cents. The trees are planted forty feet apart, so that on a five or ten acre tract of walnuts at nine or even seven years of age, one may have quite a snug income from this industry alone.

THE CITRUS FAIR.

It is now believed that Orange county will make a creditable showing at the citrus fair next month at Los Angeles. will make a creditable showing at the citrus fair next month at Los Angeles. A committee of ladies has taken the matter of design and decorations in hand, and the citizens and growers will donate money and fruit for the purpose. Although many of our finest orchards have been sold, the fruit being yet on the trees, yet it is believed that the buyers will allow a certain quantity to be used for exhibition purposes. Today the city is being canvassed for money necessary to defray contingent expenses, and already the orange-growers have been asked to donate fruit liberally. Yesterday's rain and last night's downpour is welcomed by the farmer and fruit-grower as well, the late dry winds rendering the soil so hard and dry as to make irrigation a necessity. But now we are content, and excellent crops, and a big yield of citrus and deciduous fruits are assured facts.

FOOD WASTE.

Max O'Rell on the Menus at American Hotels. The thing which, perhaps, strikes me most disagreeably in an American hotel dining-room, is the sight of the tremendous waste of food that goes on at every meal. No European, I suppose, can fail to be struck with this; but to a Frenchman it would naturally be most remarkable. In France. where, I venture to say, people live a well as anywhere else, if not better, there is a perfect horror of anything like waste of good food. It is to me, there is a perfect horror of anything like waste of good food. It is to me, therefore, a repulsive thing to see the wanton manner in which some Americans will waste enough at one meal to feed several hungry fellow-creatures. In the large hotels conducted on the American plan there are rarely fewer than fifty different dishes on the menu at dinner-time. Every day and at every meal you may see people order three or four times as much of this food as they could under any circumstances eat, and, picking at and spoiling one dish after another, sending the bulk away uneaten. I am bound to say that this practice is not only observed in hotels where the charge is so much a day, but in those conducted on the European plan—that is to say, where you pay for everything you order. There I notice that people proceed in much the same wasteful fashion. It is evidently not a desire to have more than is paid for, but simply a bad and ugly habit. I hold that about five hundred hungry people could be fed out of the waste that is going on at such large hotels as the Palmer House and the Grand Pacific Hotel of Chicago—and I have no doubt such 500 hungry people could easily be found in Chicago every day.

Municipal Self-Government. Municipal Self-Government. |San Francisco Chronicle.|

San Francisco Chronicle. [
San Francisco willingly acknowledges her debt of gratitude to Mayor Sanderson of this city and Mayor Hazard of Los Angeles for their earnest and timely efforts in the cause of self-government. They saw very plainly that the passage of the Fire Commission Bill would virtually nullisty the results of the recent election in both cities and make the mayor and supervisors little more than municipal figureheads, for if the Governor were given power to if the Governor were given power to appoint one commission another might follow and then another, until the cities were entirely governed by commissions, a thing certainly not provided for in, nor contemplated by the constitution.

It has looked for a year past as if too many business blocks were going up, but the rooms, if desirably situated, are taken as fast as they can be completed. Rents, too, have been advancing steadily for several months past. The city is growing more rapidly than many people realize.

The electric radiroad out Second street will, it is promised, be in operation in June. The engine-house, with its equipment of engines, dynamos, etc., is under contract to be completed June 1. The road-bed is to be ready May 1. About seventy-five teams and the necessary complement of men are at present at work on the latter.

The celebrated lecturer Miss Olof Krarer will appear at Simpson Tabernacle tomornow evening, Wednesday the 18th, and will have a large house. She was born and lived in Greenland until fifteen years ago, but now speaks English fluently. She will give a descriptive lecture on "Life in the Frozen North." She is but forty inches in height, 31 years of age, and weighs 120 pounds, and her lecture will be an exceptionally interesting one.

Irrigation in this portion of California is so perfect in system and so extensive that there is scarcely a large orchard or vineyard anywhere but could at any time be flooded if necessary from the irrigating ditches. The supply of water is practically inexhaustible. With the ordinary snowfall in the mountains there is always more water than can be used to advantage. Kains in the winter are always welcome, but as a matter of fact, only those who depend on the creals are wholly dependent on them.

A new swindle is said to be catching victims hereabouts. This time it is a canvasser pretending to be securing data for a soldier's history. The questions asked are cheerfully answered by all as correctly as possible. After the information has been written out, the unsuspecting informant is requested to sign it, being assured that it is only wanted for authority for publishing. After a few days those interviewed are furnished with a $15 bistory, and are surprised to find their signatures to a contract agreeing to take the book.

THE SAN DIEGO-YUMA SCHEME

More Excursions - President Cable in the City-Southern Pacific Trainmen and Their Grievances.

The closing of the gap on the coast line of the Southern Pacific between Elwood and Santa Margarita is dependent upon the success of the effort to raise the required $20,000. The committee which has undertaken to raise this amount of money has issued certificates, duly signed, stamped and numbered, for sums ranging from $1 upward. These have been placed in the hands of solicitors who are making a canvass of the regior most directly interested, and who are thus prepared to receive subsecriptions in any amount without publishing the names of the contributors. This is expected to secure many small subscriptions which could not be obtained at all in the ordinary way.

THAT ROAD TO YUMA.

Now the lawyers are investigating the legal questions involved in the proposition to have San Diego county issue bonds to raise money for constructing that greatly-desired road to Yuma. The sanguing friends of the project do not see any insurmountable legal obstacles, but the District Attorney has been asked for an opinion on the matter to make it sure. The distance by air-line is 160 miles, but as railroads are not built on air-lines in a hilly country, a length of 200 miles is sooneded to be necessary. The cost of the road is estimated at from $3,000,000 to $5,000,000, with a prob-

The best artesian water is provided for deciduous and citrus fruit land and underlies many thousands of scree. Excellent well water is abundant, on many square miles at from 8 to 25 feet deep. Thousands of acres of CHOICE ORANGE LAND with the best artesian water for irrigation. It is proven choice sugar beet land. The Oxnard Beet Sugar Company is now Cangost Beet and Sugar Factory in the United States, And will complete it next August so as to work up the crop of this year. The sugar will be refined in Chino ready for market.

Farmers are rapidly entering into contracts to grow beets because of the certainty of the crop and sure cash market at home on delivery to the factory in a few months after planting. The crop needs no housing, sacking, boxing or holding for market. With right tillage, the yield is large and profits sure. Wherever in Burope or the United States this industry has been established, land has quadrupled in value and the people greatly prospered. Extenses can be made while growing an orchard to bear ms, by cultivating sugar beets between the rows, as proven at Watsonville.

Lands rented to beet growers for cash or share of the crop. Seed furnished at cost on trust till sale of beets; use of seed drills free; special implements at cost; experienced sugar beet farmer on the ground to freely give correct instructions.
